Pulse Conferences is delighted to present the CSO 360 Congress, to be hosted 6-7 December 2017 at the prestigious W Hotel in Amsterdam. This event will provide the ultimate 'sound boarding' platform for inhouse Chief Security Officers and directors of corporate security, resilience, threat management, intelligence and crisis response from around the world.

Our expert international panel of security experts will bring real experiences to the table to pool brain power on the sustainability of global business operations amidst a rapidly evolving threat landscape, significant change in geopolitical, technological and financial spheres and in the era of industry software convergence.

Participants will exchange practical approaches and strategies on the emerging threat horizon. There will also be a strong focus on the security investment and value build perspective. A 'must attend' international event with a unique community-focused approach, the entire event will be hosted under the Chatham House to support this collaborative and trusted environment. This is the ideal opportunity to meet with fellow senior executives to make new contacts, particularly within the financial, international business, government and CNI communities.

08:15 CHAIRMAN'S INTRODUCTION
Simon Scales, Former Head of EMEA Investigations, BP plc.

Evolving security threat landscape - protecting nations and businesses

08:30 OPENING KEYNOTE Cyber Crime, Terrorism and New Security Challenges for Europe
Hear insights into how Europol are working with counterparts to combat the underground economy, initiatives on cybercrime and organised crime groups as well as the connection between terrorism and internet facilitated communications and payment systems.
Steven Wilson, Head of European Cybercrime Centre (EC3), Europol

09:00 STRATEGIC KEYNOTE AND Q&A Emerging Threat Landscape - What's Next?
An unmissable strategic overview from award-winning Security Correspondent and author, Frank Gardner OBE on the emerging global security landscape, covering for example: cyber-physical areas; Russia; China; North Korea; terrorism; aviation and global security positions.
Frank Gardner OBE, Security Correspondent, BBC & Journalist and Author

10:00 KEYNOTE Innovation in Centralized Integrated Corporate Security
Coordination and strategic management of the corporate security function should be treated in a centralised manner to confront modern security challenges. High-level reporting and accountability should be rule rather than the exception. What is the future for security departments? What is the investment perspective? Gain insights into the unique, innovative and centralized security model that Philips Lighting is developing.
Gal Messinger, Head of Global Security, Philips Lighting

10:30 CASE STUDY Insider Threat
Historically companies have not managed the 'insider threat' in a coordinated or holistic manner, have not examined or articulated the insider risk or joined up preventative controls. Explore the four key components of insider risk as well as some mitigation strategies and enhanced controls that have been tried and tested to manage the risk.
Stuart Seymour, Group Head of Security and Resilience, Centrica

11:00 Morning Coffee Break

11:30 CASE STUDY Doing Only What You Can Do - A Journey from Physical Security to Corporate Intelligence
• A reason for change • Establishing a corporate understanding of the utility of intelligence • Developing an 'Intelligence Market' • Applying intelligence processes • Digital intelligence
David Langhorn, VP Global Head of Security & Intelligence, Business Reputation & Responsibility - Global Risk - Security & Intelligence Team, InterContinental Hotels Group (IHG®)

11:50 CASE STUDY TalkTalk - How we have Transformed our Security Programme
Hear how TalkTalk has successfully recovered from the cyberattack nearly 2 years ago. Derek will discuss how the entire security programme has been transformed, including the security initiatives that were prioritised, cultural changes and behaviours. Finally benchmark on how to show progress and remediation to Executive Management and the Board.
Derek Cheng, Chief Security Officer, TalkTalk

12:20 CASE STUDY Emerging Challenges - Securing People and Assets Globally
Mark Wolsey, Group Security Director, CRH plc

12:50 Lunch - Kindly sponsored by: safe | hotels

13:40 PANEL Interview Panel Security and Emerging Threats for the Energy and Ports Sector
The energy sector faces intense cyber challenges in growth and development over the next few years, one is bringing harmonisation to an increasingly interconnected system of energy suppliers, users and distributors and the second is attacks on the energy sector through malware and the vulnerability of individuals, business and households with on-line connectivity that can be exploited through IoT.
• How you have come into the energy sector? What top threat to energy security is of concern to you in your work?
• What are your top tips on innovation in energy security and in incident response and recovery?
• What's next in global risks and opportunities hot spots?
• What top solution or approaches would you recommend for: - Detecting insider threats - Internet of Things - privacy and compliance concerns, initial complexity and interoperability issues - Collaboration in distribution and intelligence
Led by: Dr. Sally Leivesley, Director, Newrisk Ltd, A Founder Member, The Exercise Group7 Joined by: Stuart Seymour, Group Head of Security and Resilience, Centrica; Gal Messinger, Head of Global Security, Philips Lighting

14:10 CASE STUDY Big Brand Risk and Opportunity Intelligence
• Moving intelligence beyond security issues to cover a broad range of brand and other risks
• Informing and enabling the business to deliver better business outcomes
• Building an internal client base
Tim Williams, Senior Advisor, Global Risk Intelligence, McDonald's Corporation

Integrated threat intelligence and privacy challenges

14:30 CASE STUDY Practical Challenges and Tips on Implementing GDPR
Steve Wright, Data Privacy and Information Security Officer, John Lewis

14:50 PANEL Advancing Tomorrow's Holistic Security Leaders - Silo Bashing Between Security, Business and Legal
Hear next generation skills from multi-faceted perspectives of CSO, CISO and recruiters on the importance to our future of cyber-physical security joint adoption - security/ IoT/ IT/ threat/ response/ intelligence disciplines.
• What new skills are needed to meet security challenges ahead?
• Security recruitment trends and updates in salary, career and expectations
• IoT and cyber-physical security - how can CSOs get up to speed on cyber?
• What makes for a top skill set for threat intelligence roles?
• Advancing younger security leaders - passing on the legacy merged with new ways
• How can threat intelligence supplement corporate and cyber security teams?
• Is convergence of different security disciplines becoming a reality?
• Cyber and physical - risk and crisis transformation in the company

- Security community - dedicated networking receptions and dinner - an integral part of the CSO 360 experience – The perfect time to make new professional friends, locally and globally, whilst enjoying the Festival of Light in Amsterdam and dinner with peers.
- Security view on how key business areas are maturing and transformation strategies to stay one step ahead - Hear how peers are protecting business assets and reputation as security becomes an increasingly important driver of business value.

Optional Training Courses Monday 4 & Tuesday 5 December 2017

COURSE 1: CYBER ATTACKS – THE RISK AND THE FIX

Over two days, delegates are shown the reality of just how easy real cyberattacks can be - even those with the most devastating effects - and the implementation of simple measures to avoid catastrophic risk. The course is suitable for entirely non-technical officers as well as cyber managers and administrators who wish to develop a sound understanding of just how easy and low-tech the efforts of an attacker can be, and how to implement mitigation or who wish to upgrade their existing skills to become more cost effective for their organisation. The practical elements are comprehensively taught in a walk-through manner to demonstrate the vulnerabilities in realistic targets. A key theme running through the course is that of workforce vulnerability – no matter how well defended the organisation's intellectual property is, the staff are the way in.

ABOUT THE TUTOR: NORTH CYBER LIMITED

North Cyber are team of former intelligence officers with expertise in covert online operations and digital forensics. The company teaches government and corporate clients how find and fix the unseen holes in their security. They specialise in all levels of capability including low-tech and no-tech hacking, using freely available information to circumvent vastly expensive but ineffective security systems. The teaching draws on many and varied real-world examples from the private and government sectors, from the perspectives of the attacker and incident responder. Participants in these courses will evaluate their own experience on the course in gaining additional skills and understanding of the threats to their organisation and they will gain confidence in tackling these catastrophic risks to the corporate or government operation.

COURSE 2: SECURITY & RESILIENCE LEADERSHIP AND MANAGEMENT TRAINING

This training is designed to develop new skills and knowledge for corporate and government personnel that lead and manage teams at all levels. Module 1 - the perceptions of leadership, management and command. Different levels of management and styles. What people expect from their leaders and differing organisational structures and functions. Module 2 - personality types, recruitment strategies and interviewing techniques, managing expectations and attitudes, methods of communication, the threat from disgruntled personnel, the techniques of coaching and mentoring and how to manage change. Module 3 - is a series of case studies through the medium of battlefield tours, role plays and management exercises.

ABOUT THE TUTOR: ROBERT SHAW, TEG LLP

Robert is a security, intelligence and EOD executive with a UK Military background. He has broad strategic and operational experience and has advised senior staff, diplomats and government officials on aspects of security, intelligence, threat analysis, crises management, and resilience strategies. He has been the UN Security and EOD Advisor; Liaison officer for the UNMAS and UNOPS and has experience with NATO, the GCC, African Union, OSCE, EUPOL, FCO and others. Robert is a respected expert, has specialist research background on suicide bombing and has provided thematic briefs on worldwide security issues relevant to UNMAS/UNOPS missions.

Optional Training Courses Friday 6 December 2017

COURSE 3: RESILIENCE COMMUNICATIONS TRAINING - MEDIA, BRAND PROTECTION, CRISIS GOVERNANCE

Resilience communications are taught in a fast-track one-day session to develop new skills and knowledge for corporate and government personnel.

Module 1 - New Threats - covers on new threats to energy and critical infrastructure, railways, aviation, shipping and ports, construction of buildings and to the financial and government centres of major cities. Catastrophic hazards that often generate media inquiries include internal issues within the corporation or government department, large transformation projects, major infrastructure construction, terrorism, cyber-attacks, extreme weather events, insider threats, security, organised crime and fraud and events such as Brexit, North Korea's nuclear weapons programme, mass population movements, and military exercises close to national borders.

Module 2 - Optimising Communication Strengths is a practice session for all the participants to identify their strengths in contributing to a media and brand resilience process. This could be gathering information and team leadership or presenting information to internal staff, stakeholders or preparation of information for spokespersons to use in media statements.

Module 3 - Governance for Crisis Communications brings together all the phases of a catastrophic event with new governance principles that will assist in reporting after an incident on how processes were successfully managed to contribute towards the brand protection and resilience operations of the organisation.

ABOUT THE TUTOR: DR. SALLY LEVESLEY, TEG LLP

Sally is an expert in catastrophic risk and security for protection of life and critical infrastructure. She provides around 100 interviews to media a year on extreme events and communicates on public safety issues. She has been providing commentary to the BBC World Service and many other media outlets since 9/11 and commenced her media communications work when tasked with recovering a city after a severe weather disaster. Her media work includes real time commentary during extreme life threatening events such as the Beslan school terror attack and in the immediate aftermath of terrorist and other incidents such as the flight MH17 aviation incident, Mr. Litvinenko's radiation poisoning, natural disasters, threats such as DPRK nuclear programme, terror attacks in France and Brussels, Britain's 7/7 and 21/7 underground rail terror attacks and she covers most major incidents of importance to the public in any year. She has worked in catastrophic risk assessments and training within critical infrastructure covering many industries including energy, petrochemicals, rail, aviation, shipping, banking, government emergency planning and nuclear, chemical, biological and radiological incidents. (www.Newrisk.com Recent Media Commentary).

COURSE 4: BUSINESS ESPIONAGE

This training is designed to develop new skills and knowledge for corporate operations and security managers at all levels of management.

Module 1 - discusses what intelligence is, who collects it and methods of intelligence gathering.

Module 2 - discusses physical and information security methods, the insider threat and counter intelligence and how security is compromised by human nature.

Module 3 - is a series of case studies through the medium of role playing exercises and case studies.

ABOUT THE TUTOR: ROBERT SHAW, TEG LLP

Robert is a security, intelligence and EOD executive with a UK Military background. He has broad strategic and operational experience and has advised senior staff, diplomats and government officials on aspects of security, intelligence, threat analysis, crises management, and resilience strategies. He has been the UN Security and EOD Advisor; Liaison officer for the UNMAS and UNOPS and has experience with NATO, the GCC, African Union, OSCE, EUPOL, FCO and others.
