CISO Luncheon Discussion

Benchmarking CISO approaches to DevSecOps and innovation:
Practical use cases of secure by design and secure by resilience

Tuesday 4 June 2019 (12:00-16:00)

The Windsor Suite - The Milestone Hotel, London

You are cordially invited to attend an exclusive private luncheon party at The Milestone Hotel opposite Kensington Palace and Gardens to benchmark with fellow CISOs and directors of cybersecurity. This invitation, is for 4 June 2019, starting with welcome drinks in the Conservatory at 12:00 noon.

Hosted by Pulse Conferences, and sponsored by Checkmarx, the discussion will focus on the CISO interaction with DevOps and how we as a group are approaching and achieving a secure software development lifecycle (SDLC). Questions that will be discussed include: What responsibilities does the CISO have in driving innovation? How do we bridge the gap between developers and security? How do we build a successful culture of security, privacy and trust in these fast-changing complex environments? What does good practice look like with regards to testing, compliance and internal communications in the DevOps environment?

Conducted under The Chatham House Rule, this discussion will be co-chaired by a fellow CISO from the industry and a senior strategist from Checkmarx. Mr. Clive Room, Director of Events at Pulse Conferences, will be your MC for the event.

Please see the approximate timings below for this very special luncheon. If you can accept, kindly reply using the details below to confirm that you can attend.

Please R.S.V.P. as soon as you can, and before 24 May 2019. Confirmations will be done on a 'first to confirm' basis.

This elegant historic hotel is perfectly located opposite Kensington Palace and Gardens, and close to the Royal Albert Hall. With old world charm, beautiful rich furnishings and exquisite original arts, it is a ten-minute walk (or two-minute drive) from Olympia, so if you plan to return to Infosec after lunch, this can be easily accommodated.

It is worth highlighting that there is no product or sales talk at this event, it is hosted by the independent voice of Pulse Conferences. These think tanks are helpful in bringing the security communities together to benchmark approaches, challenges, successes and failures in core areas of security.

Many thanks for considering this invitation and we hope to welcome you to the Pulse CISO community.

We look forward to hearing from you.

Yours sincerely,
Team Pulse
